The elden (Elden / œlden) is a sentient race of fire element. They originally came from the Gald'sak continent, and went to the land of the sylphs (syl'fij) after a civil war of the Galdsak people. They live in Sylpus, a place with a low population and climate in comparison with the lands they lived in before. They were forced to adapt to the new life; their blood turned cold, and their bodies became colder than usual. They abandoned their old customs, and a new religion, the Prophecy of the Elden, was created. They believed that god Sulfur would come to the sylphs. However, in the lands of the sylphs, a great man who protected the sylphs by himself, Sir Sulkus of the Unoar Kingdom, appeared. He told the people of this god, and convinced the sylphs that Sulfur is a false god that will bring death. They hoped that Sulfur would abandon them. However, Sulfur had already arrived, and the sylphs were annihilated. The people of the sylphs, including the Elden, moved to Sylpus, and there only lived sinless children. NOTE: Elden are an esoteric fantasy race created in the game. The image shown above is only for illustrative purposes. In the gameplay, Elden look like the normal human.
