Mutants are enslaved people taken from across time and space, abducted from earth and other planets. They serve as weapons of mass destruction in the war between the enemy human beings and the Brotherhood of Jetpack Ninja. The evil human beings are using time-travel technology, which allows them to return people who did wrong things in past lives to the correct time. These people have been returned to the time when they did wrong, and now serve as the Brotherhood of Jetpack Ninja's assailants. This enemy army has abducted the Mutants and formed the Brotherhood in order to stop the Brotherhood of Jetpack Ninja. Jetpack Ninja, who have continued their fight to the present day, are the defenders of the planet Earth against the enemy of humanity. On planet Earth, human beings are being enslaved by the "Master Race," and the evil human beings are using time-travel technology to abduct humans in order to use them as weapons. Humans who did wrong things in past lives have been returned to the correct time, and the people who are condemned to fight in the slave army for the enemy human beings are called Mutants. For example, shooting a large number of bullets at the same time from a machine gun is something that is possible at this time. And the game situation is an actual adventure; for example, you can freely change the speed of the game, and the story and game situation can change.
