Each player's role is required to play the game together with the others. That's why they are needed to have an alliance because they will be more "decisive" in winning the game and they have to "work together" to accomplish the goal. ----- About the Game Producer: Active sense Co. Virtual Battlegrounds is a public domain MMO strategy game developed by a group of friends. We play it in our free time at one keyboard/mouse setup just for fun.

We are looking for people to join the online community! It's easy and FREE to join! All you need is an email address.

This is a multiplayer game with up to 100 people online at a time. Communication is very important. This is a non-combat game that focuses on knowing who is supporting whom and is willing to fight over the right!

See the website Virtual Battlegrounds for more detailed information!

Dealing damage has nothing to do with winning the battle. You don't kill people. You give them back their health and sometimes cause damage to their own buildings.

This is a city building game - and you have to build your city first! Yes, there will be power in numbers. But being a community oriented site, the more the merrier! We want this to be a community motivated game. You will be trading resources that you obtain from battles. The best strategy is building up buildings that are capable of dealing massive damage and attack/harass enemy populations without any damage to yourself. The game is still in an early testing stage and needs more testing.

Note: This game is still in development so please be patient!

The team is looking for experienced players: mappers, unit creators, graphic artists.

How to get the game:

Right now the game is only available for Windows users. But with enough feedback I hope to find a way to make it available for Mac users. The cool thing here is that since we are still building the game on our own, it will be a free.

Mapping is very fun and needs a lot of work.

This is an emulation of the legendary retro game released on console and PC in 1991. "Another World" (or "A.W." for short) was a revolutionary first person adventure game for Windows, Mac, and the Amiga. It was developed by Looking Glass Studios and published by Lucasfilm Ltd. The gameplay was centred around exploration and puzzle solving, and promised to be both "eye-opening and mind stretching."
Gameplay
• An experience akin to exploring an old house, with rooms and tunnels, puzzles to solve, monsters to fight and secret items to discover.
• The story is presented in an old letter and diary from the explorer who discovered the ruins. The letter and diary are both read through in-game. About This Content
"I'm trying to make a game that feels like you're actually there. Sometimes I think we're making the games that other people want to make"
