Daring Foundation is one of the UK's leading non-for-profit outdoor educational organizations. With more than 90% of people living in cities and towns now exposed to greater risks from natural hazards such as floods and landslides, and climate change, the charity was established in 1976 to educate people about these risks and how to protect themselves. Daring Academy believes that a key part of saving lives is to engage and teach those affected, such as first responders, residents, homeless people, vulnerable communities and children. It helps communities learn how to live with greater resilience, so they are less vulnerable to anything from a sudden weather event to a life-changing or life-threatening illness. Since its introduction in 1976, the Academy has trained over 1,000,000 volunteers, and its community empowerment initiatives continue to impact tens of thousands of people nationwide. History Daring Foundation was launched in 1976 by a group of passionate volunteers who believed that there was scope for a new and different kind of organization. Starting in a single room above a Willesden pub, the founders worked tirelessly to start what would become one of the country's leading non-for-profit groups. During the early days, Daring Academy helped communities to plan for disaster risk reduction and build local resilience. It has since expanded to 40 projects in three countries and is now committed to promoting greater resilience for the millions of people that live in cities, towns and villages in the UK and in the global south. Mission Daring Foundation is dedicated to saving lives through building resilience in vulnerable communities. The work of the Daring Foundation is driven by a strong belief that greater resilience strengthens communities, families and individuals, and that this is a response to climate change that also creates opportunity for local economies. In practice, Daring Foundation works directly with thousands of volunteers, community groups and social enterprises across the UK and globally, but it is also keen to support a wider network of volunteers and groups. As well as providing free risk reduction and climate change training in communities and workplaces throughout the UK, Daring Academy actively supports those who would like to become more involved in local risk reduction and climate change resilience, by preparing them for careers in the social enterprise sector and providing opportunities to create or engage in local and global businesses. It also helps to expose them to how the public sector can also deliver effective resilience, to inspire them to return to their communities and do good when they leave. Daring Foundation is able to
