) A cluster of huts holds moonlight, and at the end of the huts is a bonsai.Stay on the bayside of Main Street and you'll hear the sound of steel on steel, and if the Murakami clan make their entrance, you'll come upon them on the seawall around town. A washroom is inside the huts of Moonshine Cove. This is a bit of a hard part to navigate. You're almost guaranteed to be grabbed by an NPC if you're standing on the left hand side as you face the east. Do this: Turn north on Main Street and keep going until you see the land end at the back of a row of residences. There is a pullout with a patch of grass in front of it. The Shark Ohimesen will try to grab you if you enter from the north. Make your way north to the shoreline and you'll notice a very small thatched hut that is the entrance to Moonlight Cove. There's a washroom inside on the right side. Las Vegas Solaris' famed Buried Masamune is located at the town's dock. It's a long drop down to the sea. The drop is too steep for nimble jumps; You'll have to swing like above. Coconut and Red Light Reaping is closely guarded. If you attempt to sneak in without being spotted or using a disguise, Captain Bonkey will frequently show up, though not at the same time. To make sure no one notices, you will need to make your way east to Las Vegas Drive. Follow the bridge out of the city proper. Take the lowest road (on the cliff as you face east) to the pier where the fabled ship is docked. There are four Buried Masamunes at five locations throughout the world. The Grotto - The Wonder of the Ocean is located to the west of Coconuts Castle. Use your Determine to get up here. None of the four Buried Masamunes can be defeated. Chances are, you will need to get out of the boat and swim down, but it's still an impossible mission as there is no way back home. A Hidden Village find a secret treasure chest and pull out a fleshy fruit. Eat the fruit and you'll be cured of your stigm
